World War Has Formally Ended Peace Treaty Signed at 3:14 P.M.

GERMAN DELEGATES, MUELLER AND BELL, ARE FIRST TO ATTACH NAMES TO MOST FAMOUS DOCUMENT.

WILSON TO START HOME

CHINESE REITERATE THEIR INTENTION OF NOT SIGNING; SOUTH AFRICAN DELEGATE SIGNS UNDER PROTEST.

By the Associated Press

VERSAILLES, June 28.—An official report from the Hall of Mirrors to the State Department says that President Wilson and the American delegation completed the signing of the peace treaty, making a formal end of the great war at 3:14 o'clock this afternoon.

The treaty was signed by Dr. Hermann Mueller and Dr. Johannes Bell for Germany at 3:12 and 3:13 o'clock, respectively, they being the first to attach their signatures to the famous document, the most important peace treaty of peace in the world's history.

Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace delegation, put the direct question to the Germans whether or not they were willing to sign and execute loyally the terms in every particular. The answer of the German delegates was favorable and the signing went forward.

The delegations from the Allied nations were seated in the Hall of Mirrors when the Germans entered, and they kept their seats while the enemy delegates filed into the historically famous room.

After the signature of the Germans came the signatures of the American delegates headed by the signature of President Woodrow Wilson.

The British names followed the Americans, and the remainder came in the order set forth in the treaty.

The Chinese delegation, shortly before the hour set for the signing, reiterated their determination not to sign.

A few minutes before 3 o'clock, fifteen enlisted men from the American, British and French armies entered the hall amid cheers.

General Jan Christian Smuts, representing the Union of South Africa, signed under protest. He objected to certain territorial settlements and made a lengthy statement regarding them.

The treaty of peace was deposited on the table in the Hall of Mirrors at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon by William Martin of the French foreign office. It was enclosed in a stamped leather case. Premier Clemenceau entered the palace at 2:20 and took his seat at the head of the table.

The sojourn of President Wilson in Europe will come to an end today when he starts homeward. All arrangements for his departure have been completed and the special presidential train will leave the Gare des Invalides at 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening. It will arrive at Brest on Sunday morning, where the president will board the steamship George Washington, which sails about noon.

On his arrival in the United States, President Wilson will go straight to Washington to lay before congress the results of the peace conference. He will leave soon afterward for an extended tour of the country for the purpose of explaining directly to the people all questions relating to the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant.

The president goes back to the United States more than satisfied, his friends say, with the net results of the conference, and, all things considered, it is his opinion that the conference has been a wonderful success. While it is regarded as a disadvantageous peace for Germany, yet against this it is held that Germany committed a great wrong and quite naturally and inevitably must make just reparation for that wrong.

But outside of German results, the conference is viewed in presidential quarters as liberating peoples who never before had a chance of liberty, such as Poland, Jugoslavians and Czechoslovakia. Also the conference is credited with banding together the people of the world to make the peace regime enduring. Other large results, it was pointed out, are the giving of a charter to labor, removing restrictions on international intercourse and many other international results which can be summed up as a colossal business, such as the world never dreamed of before.

The peace treaty and the league of nations covenant should be ratified without amendment, according to the presidential view, as it is understood, for certain definite reasons, namely, that if any one power seeks to make amendments, then the war will not be over until ever one of the twenty-one associated nations learns the result of the amendments. This can only be done through processes of negotiation and it is held that it would be a hopeless process of delay in restoring peace. It is also held that the effect of the amendments would be to keep the United States out of the treaty and out of the league.

The question has arisen whether reservations amount to amendments, and presidential quarters are understood to hold that reservations, such as the proposed Root reservation to article 10 of the covenant, are equivalent to amendment.

TREATY.

VERSAILLES, June 28.—The credentials of Dr. Hermann Mueller and Dr. Johannes Bell, German plenipotentiaries sent here to sign the peace treaty, were approved this morning. These delegates have agreed to sign the treaty. Several other German statesmen refused to accept the honor of signing this historic document, believing a stigma would be attached to their names. It is thought the treaty will be signed this afternoon or tonight.

WILLARD GETS $100,000 WIN OR LOSE—QUESTION IS, CAN HE WIN?

By the Associated Press

TOLEDO, June 28.—Jess Willard, the Kansas giant, will defend his title of world's heavyweight fistic champion against the challenger, Jack Dempsey, of Utah, here next Friday afternoon. Both Willard and Dempsey have been earnestly training in this vicinity for several weeks past. Neither one has left anything untried or undone in order to get himself into the best possible condition for the encounter, the outcome of which will mean so much for the victor. By winning from Jack Johnson at Havana, Cuba, four years ago, Willard was placed in a position to begin building up an immense fortune and should Dempsey capture the title there is, no telling how much wealth he may accumulate in these days of high finance, when sport promoters talk of the "sky" as the limit for big events.

Aside from the actual purse money of $127,500 signed for by the two pugilists, $100,000 of which is guaranteed to Willard, win, lose or draw, the enormous amount of cash which will be handled in connection with the coming bout, dwarfs all previous ring contests into financial oblivion. The "gate," from the sale of tickets and concessions is expected to pass the one million dollar mark which would make the receipts of previous fistic carnivals look very small in comparison.

Tex Rickard, the daring promoter who is bringing the two big men together in this bout, generally does things on a large scale. He secured the Johnson-Jeffries fight for a guarantee of $101,000 and at Reno, his receipts amounted to $270,000. Of course the promoter was at an enormous outlay in bringing that contest to an issue, having been forced almost at a moment's notice, to move from California to another state, in order to secure a battle ground. Rickard's outlay for the coming battle including guaranteed purse, cost of arena construction, advertising and other expenses will amount to a vast sum. The casual observer might think that the promoter will still have a big margin of profit out of the charges for admission. At first glance this seems reasonable but Rickard is going to pay the regular war tax of ten percent on all tickets purchased and has guaranteed the local authorities a percentage also. The United States government, however, will have a big claim for income tax so that when everything is deducted from the "gate" Rickard's margin of profit will probably fall far short of the results he attained in some of his previous ventures.

Some changes have been made in the conditions governing the bout since the original articles were signed, the most important being the limiting of the contest to twelve rounds and the reduction of the size of the ring to twenty feet square. Originally the men were to have gone twenty or more rounds and the intention was to have a regulation 24 foot ring. Otherwise the agreement stands as signed by Rickard, Willard and Dempsey, each being entitled to a third of the moving picture privileges. Willard is guaranteed $100,000 and Dempsey $27,500.

When the men step into the ring on Friday, each will have a big following of partisans. Those who rely on Willard's retaining his title, insist that he is invulnerable to punishment and that Dempsey will fail to reach his burly opponent with an effective blow. Many of them also claim that Willard has never hit a human being with the full force of which his huge frame is capable. It is said that once during his preparation for a previous contest Willard lost his temper on being stung by the blow of a sparring partner. Then the big fellow landed a vicious swing which swept his opponent and one of the ring posts to a spot several yards away from the ringside and that the "partner" needed medical attention for many days afterward.

Dempsey's friends, and they are legion, confidently state that no man, however big and strong, can withstand the impact of a full weight hook or swing from either of Jack's fists. They look for a quick ending to the contest with Dempsey a winner. They say that Jack can land on Willard's jaw just as effectively as he did on Ferd Fulton's last year. They rely on Jack's fearlessness as a big asset in conjunction with his heavy hitting power. Dempsey's youth also is one of the arguments his adherents advance as being a decided factor in his favor as Dempsey is 24 years old. There are conflicting statements as to Willard's exact age, but it is the general belief that the Kansas has passed the forty year mark.

Dempsey has taken part in many ring contests during the last four years while Willard has fought only twice within that period. Jess won the championship from Johnson at Havana, Cuba, in April, 1915. That battle lasted twenty-six rounds. Just eleven months later Willard met Frank Moran for ten rounds at the Madison Square Garden, New York. This was a no decision contest but Moran was so far outclassed on that occasion that there was no question as to Willard's having won decisively. Since that time March 25, 1916, Willard has not defended his title. Thousands of fistic patrons believe that this protracted absence from fighting has had a deteriorating effect on the big champion's abilities while Dempsey having been in ring action almost constantly will be in much better condition.

Dempsey fought sixteen ring battles last year and scored thirteen knockouts. One of these, with Arthur Pelkey at Denver, went 15 rounds; two of them ended in the sixth, Carl Morris and Bill Brennan being the victims but eight of them were abruptly finished in the opening round. In addition to the three mentioned pugilists, Dempsey scored knockouts on Fred Fulton, Jim Flynn, Porky Flynn, Terry Kellar, Battling Lavinsky and Gunboat Smith.

Ten Thousand Building Laborers in Chicago Strike; Others May Follow Soon

BASEBALL TOMORROW HURRAH! HURRAH!!

The first baseball game of the season to be played at Ada will come off tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The game will be played with Stonewall and will be staged at the fair grounds.

This is the third game the local team has played this year. The first one with Allen resulted in a victory for that town by a score of 2 to 1, the game running sixteen innings. The second game was with Stonewall last Sunday, this game going fourteen innings and resulting in a 5 to 4 victory for Ada. Stonewall hopes to get revenge tomorrow and the game is certainly to be hotly contested.

The game tomorrow will begin sharply at 3:30 o'clock.

Hamburg Fight- ing Reported to Have Stopped

By the Associated Press

BERLIN, June 28.—It is officially reported that government troops are in complete control of Hamburg. No fighting has been reported in the city, and it is said sufficient troops have arrived to ensure restoration of normal conditions.

The government officials believe practically all rioting throughout the former empire has been put down.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Ten thousand building laborers and hod carriers are on strike today for a wage increase from 57½ cents to 75 cents an hour. More than 150 structural projects, including several big industrial plants, are affected.

The Patrolmen's Association, with a membership of 3,000, is dissatisfied with the council of finance committee's raise to $1,740 a year and will take a vote on a strike tomorrow. The city firemen, who also voted a similar raise, are also dissatisfied and will take a strike vote tomorrow.

The labor unrest in Chicago is becoming more acute from day to day. Instead of there being a labor shortage, there are more jobs than laborers to fill them.

EX-KAISER WILHELM PLANS TO GO BACK TO GERMANY

By the Associated Press

BERLIN, June 28.—Former Emperor William is planning to speedily return to Germany before the entente can demand his surrender from Holland, according to a Stuttgart dispatch to the Neue Berliner Zeitung. The dispatch states that the Dutch government "thoroughly approves of his return, as the former emperor is an unwelcome guest and his presence in Holland is increasing the problems before that country."

COBLENZ, June 28.—The following advertisement is appearing in newspapers in various parts of unoccupied Germany, being a part of the campaign that is said to be going on throughout the country under the auspices of the Officers' Alliance:

"We have telegraphed the Holland government as follows: 'The German Officers' Alliance, filled with gratitude for the hospitality afforded the German Kaiser by Holland, in the name of millions of Germans, requests the government of the Netherlands to refuse to deliver the Kaiser to the entente. We can not now defend our former war lord with our bodies, but we expect the magnanimity of the Dutch to spare us this final and most humiliating disgrace.'"

The advertisement is signed "the German Officers' Alliance." No papers appearing in the American occupied area have been permitted to print the advertisement, which is addressed "to all Germans."

Lo, The Poor Indian---The Way He Is Treated By Indian Agency At Muskogee

Lucy Harjo and Grandchild—Worth $500,000—Clad in "Cotton Checks."

MRS. Lucy Harjo lives less than one mile from Allen, Oklahoma. Her allotment of 320 acres joins the Allen townsite. Allen is the most prosperous oil town between the Okmulgee field to the North and the Ardmore fields to the Southwest. The 320 acres of Mrs. Harjo lie in the heart of the Allen field and according to oil men is the most valuable tract in the entire field.

For many years Mrs. Harjo had lived on a farm good only for agricultural purposes. Being a full blood Indian and knowing little or nothing of the progressive ways that had come to the Chickasaw Nation, Aunt Lucy let her land to tenant farmers and gleaned such rents as she was able to get. Each year saw a continuation of poverty and the future offered nothing of promise to the Indian woman growing old and stricken in years.

A single room log cabin lined with mud and with an ordinary lean-to behind it was Aunt Lucy's home. And the years passed.

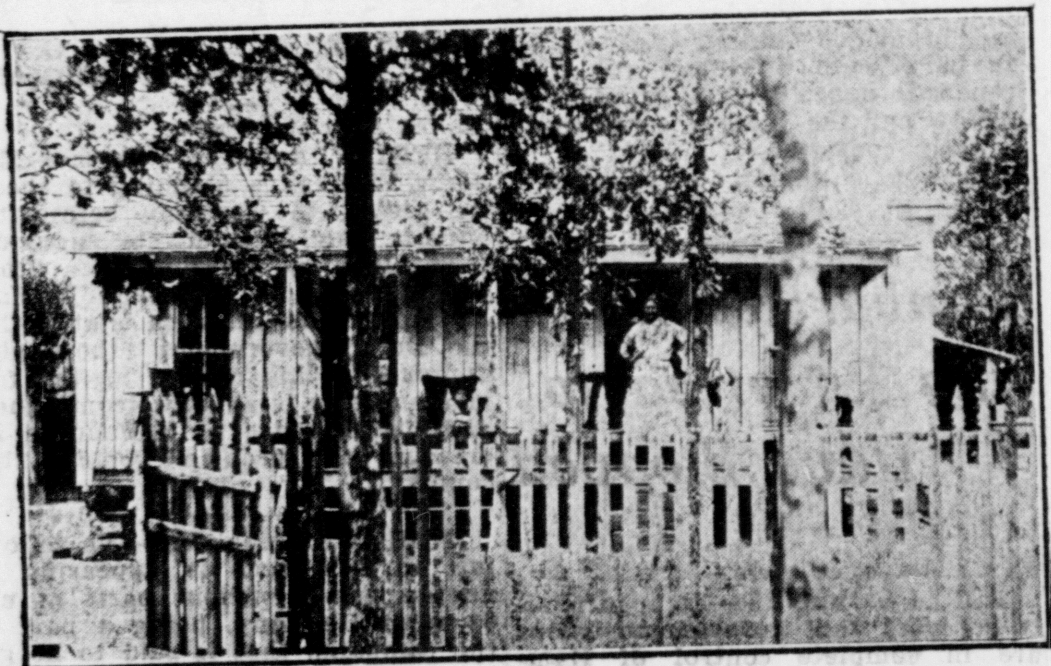

Then Allen became an oil field. The insatiable thirst for gold led some prospectors to the village on the M. O. & G. and a test was made in the Allen vicinity. Oil was the cultural allotment converted overnight into a half million dollar oil farm. She began to see visions of comfort at the end of her sordid life.

Then—Cato Sells.

As a full-blood Indian, Aunt Lucy is a ward of the government. As such, she is a slave, to all intents and purposes, for the ward is not permitted to purchase a morsel of bread without the consent of the government agent. When the agent lives sixty-five miles away trouble is multiplied and the way of the ward is a pathway strewn with thorns. The agent in the case of Aunt Lucy was one J. R. Phillips, who lives at Atoka, across two counties from Allen and beyond many, many rugged hills.

The methods of Phillips in managing the affairs of Mrs. Harjo were the long distance, red tape methods of Cato Sells and the Indian office at Muskogee. They are the methods that have caused the rebellion of every white race in history that has been subjected to their humiliating processes. They are the methods employed by third rate clerks who seek by procrastination to prevent forever and a day the final winding up of the affairs of the Five Civilized Tribes.

The Squalid Little Home of Lucy Harjo, Where She Waits and Waits.

reward and a message went forth that another oil field had been found—this time below the Canadian. And there came to Allen the boom that comes to every village where the iron might of the prospector is able to wring oil from the womb of the earth.

Harjo Acres Looked Good.

The oil scout saw the Harjo acres lying in the heart of developed territory. The entire farm was leased and prospecting thereon began. Once more oil was discovered. The Harjo farm proved the most valuable in the field. To the first well was added twenty others. Three gas wells were brought in. An Indian woman saw an ordinary agri-

If this work is ever completed, third rate clerks will be out of a job.

Theory of the Agency.

The Indian office at Muskogee proceeds on the theory that every white man in Oklahoma is a crook. In order to save the Indian from the machinations of these crooks they all but starve the helpless Indian to death. They keep them in squalid cabins unfit to stable beasts. They apparently consider the Indian not sufficiently advanced to need clothes. Rags and tatters and a morsel of bread is doled out to full-bloods, among whom are college graduates with tens of thousands of dollars in banks selected by the Indian office at Muskogee or sent by the Cato Sells regime to favored institutions in New England or the middle west.

To have three gas wells at her door and unable to pay for piping the gas into her home.
To have cattle and hogs dying for feed and refused permission to pay for feed with her own money.
No, this was not in barbarous Russia or in the occupied regions of Belgium. It is in Pontotoc county, whose boys have died for the freedom of the world.

Aunt Lucy's income from her oil wells is about $2,000 a month, but not one penny of this money is under her control. It is sent by the department to some bank that is friendly to the department. When Aunt Lucy wanted a dollar she had to go to Atoka to intercede with the agent, or meet the agent at Ada, twenty-five miles from her home.

If Aunt Lucy wanted a sack of flour, she had to hire a jitney and drive to Ada, get the order for the flour O. K. by the agent, and pay the jitney driver $10.00 for the drive.

If Aunt Lucy needed a dollar's worth of sugar, it necessitated a drive of fifty miles and a jitney bill of $10.00.

When Aunt Lucy needed money to repair her cabin or purchase feed for her stock, it meant a long trip to Ada, vexatious delays, and finally a check for one tenth the amount she actually needed.

And witnesses have testified under oath that the agent never treated Aunt Lucy with respect.

She Gets a Guardian.

Finally Aunt Lucy decided that she wanted a guardian. The laws of Oklahoma provide that guardians may be appointed for incompetents, and Aunt Lucy is not considered competent to manage an estate worth a half million dollars. So she went to Allen and asked Mr. N. S. Olivo to become her guardian.

Because of his knowledge of the indignities she had suffered from the Indian office, Mr. Olivo consented to accept the position.

Mr. Olivo has lived in or about Allen for thirty-four years. The leading men of his town give him credit for bearing a blameless reputation. He is one of the most successful business men in Pontotoc county. At present he is cashier of the First State Bank of Allen. The county judge of Pontotoc county had unlimited confidence in Mr. Olivo, when he appointed him guardian of Aunt Lucy because he had known him for years.

The Indian agent objected to Mr. Olivo for guardian only because he did not want any guardian appointed. He wanted to handle the estate himself. He knew that it was inconvenient for Aunt Lucy to be compelled to visit Ada to see the agent, but her convenience was the last consideration with him. He was one of the little tin gods out of the machine and resented any arrangement that might minimize his importance. But Judge Busby after several weeks' deliberation and with full knowledge of all the facts in the case appointed Mr. Olivo guardian.

Thought Troubles at End.

This appointment was made last October. With a guardian near her home who understood her needs and sympathized with her in her privations, Aunt Lucy had reason to believe that many of her troubles were at an end. But she still had something to learn about Indian agents. As the appointment of Mr.

Olivo had been opposed in the first place, the agent determined to make his administration a failure. He simply refused to approve any bill made for Aunt Lucy by her guardian, and as the money was under the department's control over at Muskogee, merchants who sold Aunt Lucy the necessities of life were unable to collect their money.

The drought and hot winds of 1918 killed the crops on Aunt Lucy's farm. Her stock had to be fed, and to feed this stock Mr. Olivo purchased feed stuff costing $87.50. He managed to collect this through the department as easily as the Allied armies reached the Rhine.

There was no well at Aunt Lucy's home and the sixty-five year old woman was carrying water from a creek three hundred yards away. Mr. Olivo had a well drilled at her door that furnishes an abundance of water. The agent refused to approve the claim for drilling this well and it is still unpaid.

Aunt Lucy's tenant was carrying water from the creek. A second well was drilled for the tenant, and that bill is unpaid.

Still Other Unpaid Bills.

Aunt Lucy owned a small boxed house in Allen that was standing vacant. Her guardian had this house repaired and it is now rented for ten dollars a month. The agent refused to approve the repair bill and it is still unpaid.

Mr. Olivo approved in all $250.00 for Aunt Lucy to purchase the actual necessities of life for her. The merchants selling the goods made out itemized statements, swore to the accounts, and sent them to the agent at Atoka. He never sent them to Muskogee and the bills are unpaid. The office at Muskogee had told Mr. Olivo's attorney to purchase anything Aunt Lucy needed and the bills would be paid. But the third rate clerk at Atoka told Aunt Lucy she must fire her guardian before she could get anything she needed.

Mr. Olivo knew that Aunt Lucy is too old to cut wood and that wood is oftentimes hard to buy. He knew that three gas wells existed on Aunt Lucy's farm. He had the gas piped into Aunt Lucy's home. The gas does not cost her a penny. But the agent refused to pay for the piping.

The agent refused to approve bills for furniture for Aunt Lucy's home and for well ropes for her wells. He told her to fire her guardian and she could get anything she wanted.

Aunt Lucy is a full-blood and an old woman, but she is a human being. She bought a little bed and a rocking chair for her grandchild as a Christmas present. The agent said "she didn't need that damned stuff," and refused to pay for it.

Hungry, Though Rich.

Aunt Lucy went to the agent and told him she was hungry and needed supplies. He told her that she had a guardian—look to him. But cessities of life. And an Indian office at Muskogee, filled with men of third rate calibre complacently deposit the tens of thousands of dollars belonging to the government's ward and lets that ward live or die as fate may decree—it is all one to them.

Others to Blame Also.

And the interior Department at Washington leaves all such trivial matters as starving Indians to a man with the hyphenated name of a Roman censor and a Yankee circus magnate, whose knowledge of Indian affairs approximates the cube root of zero, but who is well aware that if his duty is done the affairs of the Five Civilized Tribes will soon be terminated and several thousand mahogany patriots will have to go to work and make an honest living.

In the meantime Aunt Lucy Harjo sits in front of her hovel at Allen and watches the oil wells on her allotment bring wealth to her that she cannot touch or use for her comfort. The dull monotony of her life goes slowly on, only to be broken when she pays $10.00 for a jitney to convey her to Ada, that she may get down on her knees to a third rate clerk and ask his permission to buy a morsel of bread.

In the meantime the Indian office at Muskogee enjoys the thrill of

A Human Interest Story of The Seminoles

In the merging into our citizenship of the sixty-seven tribes and remnants of tribes of the state, probably no tribe has made such great progress, and at the same time less understood, than the Seminoles. Years after the Cherokees, Creeks, Choctaws and Chickasaws had settled on their reservations in Oklahoma and had made much progress toward the changed conditions wrought through their removal from the southland to this new and strange country, the Seminoles were furiously contesting the efforts of the United States government to bring them here, although by the treaty at Payne's Landing in 1832 they had accepted lands west of the Mississippi river.

As warriors they had proven themselves the equals, at least, of any southern tribe and the simple story of their seven years resistance to the power of the federal government is a story of heroic devotion to what they conceived to be their rights. As warriors they possessed a keen and discriminating judgment and a strategy that was masterful.

The Seminoles were removed to Oklahoma in 1842. They had lived so long in the semi-tropics, had become so accustomed to the life in the everglades that they stoutly resisted removal. The government refused to allow them their slaves and the restrictions placed about them necessitated a complete change in their lives. Many of them were so bitter at what they conceived to be the injustice of the government that they stole away from their guards and went into Mexico. Others hid away in the inaccessible places in the everglades rather than make a new home in an untried and unknown section. Many died on the trip into Oklahoma.

On arrival here in 1842 an attempt was made on the part of the government to merge them with the Creeks, and while the Muskogean blood flowed in their veins, they became so dissatisfied that in 1866 the government assigned them a separate reservation.

From the time of the establishment of their nation till its extinguishment, they never had a written constitution as did other of the tribes.

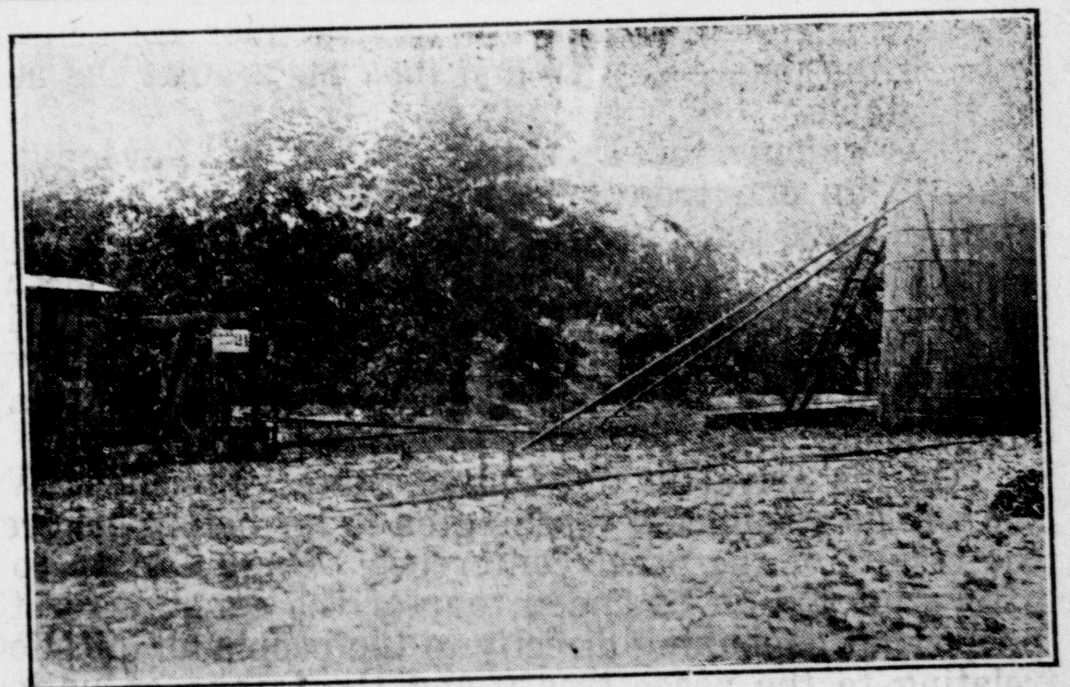

What a wonderful change has taken place in the past fifty-three years. What other tribe has equalled them in progress? From a fierce and relentless tribe of men in 1840, that did not fear death—men that were willing to undergo any hardship that they might remain in the fastnesses of their beloved Florida—today they stand high in the arts and ways of civilized men among Oklahoma Indians.

Less of Caucasian blood flows in their veins than any of the Five Civilized tribes, and only the Cherokees—among whom but few, if any, full-bloods are found—surpass them. It is claimed, also, that this tribe has moved less with the negro than any other of the Five Civilized tribes. In less than ninety years they have merged from savagery into civilization. Where, formerly, the warrior stood as the embodiment of prowess, courage and savagery—today stands the citizen willing to help solve the problems of citizenship, and share in the duties that citizenship requires.

The Seminoles have, for many centuries, been considered the most astute of our aborigines. He was unusually keen in following trails; possessed a vision trained to minute detection; intensely devoted to his family; frank and open in his ideas on all tribal subjects; bravely battled for his ideals; whether alone or with his tribesmen—all of which made him a warrior to be feared, and a man to be reckoned with in all matters tribal or otherwise.

In the everglades there still remain nearly 300 and in this state there are about 2,500. The change since the tribe divided is truly remarkable—probably having no counterpart except, perhaps, in the Japanese, and no student of the Indians and the problems he has presented to Americans has reason to feel aught but proud of the great achievements in the civilizing of the Seminoles, and the making of the tribe self-supporting, self-respecting citizens of the great commonwealth of Oklahoma.

when the guardian bought the supplies the agent refused to approve the claims.

Every claim forwarded to the agent for supplies for this old woman is sworn to. That the price is reasonable is attested on oath. That the claims are for actual necessities has never been questioned. Yet a third rate clerk working for a few hundred dollars a year and holding the job because it pays him more than he could possibly make at other employment, considers himself competent to manage a half million dollar estate that he never sees—has never seen more than two times—and in the glory of his self-created importance permits a human being to suffer for the actual ne-cheap government berths and hungrily receives the royalties from Aunt Lucy's oil wells to place the money where its real owner will never see it.

In the meantime Cato Sells and his circumlocution office lies awake at nights scheming how the Indian bureau may be perpetuated, and how by keeping Indian wards at the pale brink of starvation, they may preserve an excuse for keeping the bureau in existence.

And in the meantime a mighty army is returning from the red brink of the battle hell, where they suffered the tortures of the damned that freedom might fill the earth and that all races of this old world might be forever free.

Willard-Dempsey Arena Largest, Most Gorgeous Ever Built for Single Fight

By the Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., June 27.—Thrilling its raw, yellow skeleton skyward, the huge bowl-shaped arena, costing $150,000 and originally planned to seat 50,000 persons, is rapidly nearing completion for the heavyweight contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey here July 4.

The arena is located in Bay View Park, a municipality owned plot of ground sixty acres in extent and directly north four miles from the heart of the city. Before being turned over to Tex Rickard, promoter of the championship contest, the park had been used as a recreation center and the arena rests on the site of two baseball diamonds. On the north side of the park is Maumee Bay and to east is Maumee River. Encircling the plot is a road of crushed stone. The park is of artificial construction, most of it being filled in land, but it is ideally situated in every respect. It is perfectly flat and treeless, making the work of the engineers constructing the arena easier than it otherwise would have been.

Some idea of the immensity of the arena may be obtained from the fact that it is four times as large as the arena in which Jack Johnson battered Jim Jeffries to defeat in Reno, Nev., and capable of seating four times as many persons. Approximately 1,750,000 feet of lumber has been used in the structure. Not a bolt has been used, the entire building being held together by nails of which two carloads or 50,000 pounds have been driven. All new lumber has entered into the construction and this will be sold after the contest.

Precautions for safety have been taken in the construction. Careful tests were made of ground to find out whether it could carry the great human weight which would rest upon it. The carrying capacity of the number and the tensile strength of the nails were determined and a margin allowed for safety.

Although the structure was originally planned for 50,000 persons, a load of 80,000 persons was taken as the basis of the estimate and, instead of allowing 175 pounds per person, as is done in ordinary construction for "live loads," an average of 200 pounds was taken. This gave a total "live load" of 8,000 tons, but to allow even a further amount of safety margin, construction was based upon a load of 10,000 tons.

As an insurance against any settling should rainy weather on the day of the match, or even a few days before, cause the structure to settle slightly, heavier footings were used. This entailed an additional expense of about $3,500 but Promoter Rickard decided it would be cheap for the greater safety afforded.

Nor is the actual safety of the spectators the only thing which has been considered. Every effort has been made to make it certain every ticket holder will get the seat to which his ticket entitles him. To take care of the big crowd, there will be four grand entrances, one each at the north, south, east and west side of the arena. At each of these will be four runways, one each for the $10, $15 and $25 seats while the fourth will take care of the $30, $40 and $50 and $60 ticket holders. In order to obtain entrance it will be necessary to pass muster of three separate ticket takers to guard against anyone not holding a ticket slipping by.

Several hundred discharged soldiers, all having seen service in France, will act as ushers and guards at the arena. They will be armed. Bank clerks have been engaged by Promoter Rickard in handling the ticket sales at the arena and at the downtown headquarters on the day of the contest.

Precautions against "rushing" of the gates also have been taken. Outside the arena eighty feet distant will be a barbed wire fence, or entanglement eight feet high and a half mile long to keep the crowd away from the entrances. Closer to the arena will be a board fence twelve feet high, surmounted by barbed wire, while at the top of the arena itself will be a five foot fence of barbed wire with armed guards stationed every twenty-five feet. The $10, $15, $25 and $30 and $40 seats also will be separated from each other by barbed wire to prevent occupants of one section moving into better seats.

There will not be a stairway in the entire arena, which is 600 feet across. Entrance to the various sections will be along inclined runways, with a grade of one foot to every six feet, making the climb scarcely noticeable. The runways to the $10 seats, which will be thirty-four feet from the ground, will be 180 feet in length.

An allowance of eighteen inches seatway has been made for each ticket holder. The rows will be two feet apart for all seats cheaper than $50 and eight inches more for the $50 and $60 seats. The seats themselves will be ten inches in width, giving fourteen inches leg room between rows. The only difference between the cheapest seat and the top-priced rows will allow slightly more leg room.

The $60 tickets entitles holders to seats about fifteen feet from the ring, 176 press seats for newspaper writers taking up the actual ringside. There will be forty-two seats in the first row of the reserved seat sections, while the last row of the $10 seats will accommodate 1,800 persons. The first row of $10 seats will be about 276 feet from the middle of the ring.

James McLaughlin, an industrial engineer of San Francisco, is the builder of the arena. McLaughlin is known to fight followers from coast to coast as the arenas of some of the most important battles of pugilism have been constructed by him.

When the Jeffries-Johnson fight was switched to Reno, Rickard commissioned McLaughlin to build the arena there. McLaughlin completed the structure, with a seating capacity of 20,000 in seven days.

"My experience at Reno taught me a lesson," McLaughlin said. "We neglected to put up a barbed wire fence in addition to a wood fence. The result was that about 2,000 men climbed over the top and saw the fight without paying a cent. We'll fool them this time."

Work was started on the Bay View park arena on May 17. Two hundred men were employed in the construction. McLaughlin expects to have it completed the day before the contest.

SEE WHO'S HERE TODAY A "PAL" OF OTHER DAYS

Hon. Carlton Weaver, editor of the Latimer County News-Democrat, at Wilburton, pioneer citizen of the Ada of long ago and one of the best known figures in state affairs is in the city today.

Carlton and the present editor of this paper founded the Ada Weekly News over eighteen years ago. If either of us were writers whose "stuff" could be marketed, a book containing the romances and thrilling experiences of those days could be peddled for enough that neither of us need work at the newspaper business any longer.

To write pay checks late Saturday afternoon with the hope that a kind providence would make it possible for us to cover them before Monday morning following; to dodge a desperate gambler or bootlegger for the first two or three days after having exposed his nefarious traffic in the columns of this great semi-religious organ of publicity; to write copy with a 45 Colts as a paper weight; to go out collecting bills the first of the month to find that a big majority of our customers had sold out, folded their tents and stolen away between the suns on the night of the 31st; these were just a few of the experiences that we remember right off the bat, but gray hairs and furrowed brows on heads that are barely mature tell the rest of the story.

But these were good old days and we have never rued a single one of them.

Fate has played us many tricks since those days, but we are still in the ring, still in fighting trim, and as in the days of yore, still hopeful of the future—and we both still believe that Ada is the greatest little city in the whole United States.

Mr. Weaver is on a visit to the editor of the News, to his father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haynes, of this city, and to every old time citizen of Ada, all of whom are proud to call him their friend.

METHODISM AND THE DRAMA.

One of the greatest surprises of this surprising age is the fact that the Methodist church has taken the drama into its fold. It has not arrived at the state where it recommends the diversions thought necessary in some circles for the tired business man, but has taken the opposite course of making dramatic art serve its own teaching.

At a great centenary exposition and world rally of Methodism held in Columbus, O., a pageant has been staged in a coliseum seating 8,000 people. The play was based, in form, on the old "morality" plays. Action, solo and chorus were used, and the story was that of a bewildered soul, called "The Wayfarer," who was finally convinced that God's purpose rules the world.

This seems like the right angle from which to view art and life. Art is always the attempt to express and interpret life. It succeeds according as the interpretation is sound. To deny the right to exist of any form of art simply because its working out has been unsuccessful in the wrong hands is like trying to sweep back the tides. There are King Canutes in every land and every generation, but the tide continues to come in according to its own great laws.

To adapt an art-form to the needs of any great purpose or time is a constructive thing. If there is indeed a divine purpose running through all life, moulding it according to Law, and the Methodists wish to prove it, they could choose no better vehicle than the drama, which appeals at once to the eye, to ear and to understanding.

FEDERATION AND LEAGUE.

It would hardly be accurate to characterize the Federation of Labor vote on the League of Nations as a straw showing which way the wind blows. It looks more like a strawstack in a tornado. There is no mistaking the fact and its significance.

The vote cast at the Atlantic City convention in behalf of the more than 30,000 local unions represented was 29,750 in favor of the covenant as it stands, and only 420 against it. That is 70 to 1.

It cannot be argued logically that this indicates the actual ratio of public opinion on the subject. The unions were strongly influenced by the favorable provisions in the peace treaty in behalf of labor. But with all due allowance made for this and other determining factors, it looks like a pretty clear indication of the way the "plain people" feel about the matter.

That vote registers the sentiment of 3,000,000 workers, representing directly, with their families, perhaps 15,000,000 people, and indirectly representing many millions more. It seems likely that unorganized labor in general will follow the lead of the Federation.

Here is the biggest block of definite public sentiment that has yet appeared in America on either side of the controversy. Opponents of the League may well doubt whether they can muster any weight of hostile sentiment sufficient to counteract it.

A "billion-dollar wheat crop" used to be the American farmer's dream of opulence. And now, just figure up what 1,200,000,000 bushels of wheat are worth at $2.26 a bushel.

Now Denmark wants coal from the United States. By the way, is there any nation anywhere that doesn't want something from the United States?

Now why shouldn't Germany go dry, too? The money the Germans spend* for beer and wine would help a good deal in paying that war indemnity.

The State Press

Atoka Indian Citizen-Democrat: Some day maybe the Republicans will forgive the army for winning the war under a Democratic administration.

Oklahoma City News: The movement to democratize labor is good. When it is accomplished, let's democratize the legislature and congress.

Oklahoma City News: Professor Garner has come back from Africa and brought with him the body of a talking ape that he killed. We're glad he didn't bring it back alive. The country already has too many talking apes.

Ardmoreite: Well, if we can't have the national capital at Ardmore—since Ada is so jealous—why can't we make a strong bid for President Wilson to come down and occupy Convention Hall on his swing around the circle? Now laugh, Ada, darn ye!

Har! Har! Har!

Durant News: The great trouble with lots of people who are complaining that their earnings are not big enough to live on, is the fact that they are endeavoring to sustain champagne appetites on beer comes.

Oklahoma City Times: There was never much doubt about Germany signing the treaty, but it will still be necessary to maintain a large police force to make her abide by its terms. Until time has taught the Germans that honesty and decency are of some consequence, that nation will be about as trustworthy as forty thieves.

cated, there will be no more propaganda frame ups, either national, state or municipal, for if ever there was a liberty loving and liberty demonstrating people that has suffered at the hands of a lot of irresponsible, self assertive public pap suckers, it has been those of America. This breed of hapless misfits have been everywhere scattered about over the land and during the war they stood on the street corners of the cities, towns and villages and prated of their loyalty and patriotism, but there was never a corporal's guard of them that went abroad with the American boys and helped to run down the German kaiser and his horde of cutthroats and make the world safe for democracy. When that home-guard, swivel-chair bunch was needed at the front, they chose the rear and now that the battles have been fought without them, they should be permanently relegated to the rear.

Milburn Press: A Chicago woman killed herself yesterday because the gossip told her things on her husband. The idea of being so old-fashioned as to care; new women laugh at gossip about their husband and start affairs of their own.

No Such Things.

"Beer and Prohibition," is the caption of an editorial appearing in the Ada News.

We naturally assume this is from the trusty typewriter of Marvin Brown, but we desire to direct his attention to a most glaring error. There may be prohibition, but there is no longer beer. There is a stuff they call near-beer, but after sampling it we are convinced it is a long way off. A man in a reminiscent mood cannot find enough kinship between beer and the stuff they are now making under that name to establish a decent alibi.

Has Never Been Down Sick Since Taking PERUNA

Read this letter from Mr. Robt. Minnick, Grass Range, Montana.
"In 1900 I was out in Kansas running a threshing engine and the threshing crew had to sleep out of doors. One of the crew brought a Peruna to me and I took the engine one day and I was feeling very ill from sleeping out. I decided to give Peruna a trial and sent for a bottle of Peruna and a box of Peruna Tablets, which straightened me out in a hurry.
"I have never been down sick since that time. I do not take any other medicine except Peruna. I always keep it on hand. If I get my feet wet, get a cold, feel chilly, or a little bad, I always take Peruna. People should not wait until they are down sick and then take it, but should keep it on hand like I do and when they feel bad, they should use it."

U. S. OFFICIALS ARREST STRIKERS

SEVENTEEN TELEGRAPH STRIKERS IN OKLAHOMA CITY THROWN IN JAIL. FEDERATION BUSY.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28.—Seventeen striking telegraphers were arrested last night by agents of United States Attorney John A. Fain, charged with conspiracy to interfere with the telegraph system of the United States. Order for the raid came from Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer.

Information against five more will be served today when the strikers can be located.

Federal agents, directed by A. L. James of Dallas, employee of the Western Union, swooped down on the picketers about the telegraph office and then rushed them in automobiles to the office of United States Commissioner Ernest G. Chambers, where bonds of from $1,000 to $1,500 were ordered.

Edgar M. Fenton, president of the State Federation of Labor, who was called by the strikers, immediately planned to hurry a delegation of the state's biggest labor leaders to Washington Sunday and demand that United States Attorney Fain be removed from office. They will ask Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to make the demand.

At a conference of labor leaders of the city held late last night in the federation offices here, plans for a general strike of all workers in this city, were discussed tentatively.

"I have heard that plan talked freely tonight," Fenton declared at midnight, "but whether there is a possibility that it will be brought to a head I cannot say. I am certain of one thing and that is that every laboring man in the city and state is behind the striking telegraphers."

Bruce Eddings, chairman of the city trades and labor council, declared that the "situation is the most severe test of organized labor in the history of this state."

Fenton said he understood that it is planned to call a special meeting of the trades and labor council at once to discuss the telegraphers' strike and possible further action among labor men here.

THE TOWN GOSSIP

By MILTON LESTER

YESTERDAY MORNING.

I DROPPED in.
AT SHAW'S store.
TO SEE Mr. West.
ABOUT SOME advertising.
AND WHILE I was there.
A LADY came in.
AND MR. West excused himself.
AND WAITED on her.
AND SHE wanted a pair of shoes.
AND MR. West.
BOWED HER to a seat.
AND TOOK the measure.
OF HER foot.
(IT WAS a right pretty foot.)
AND CLIMBED up a ladder.
AND GOT a box of shoes.
AND TOOK one out.
AND TRIED it on the lady's foot.
AND REMARKED:
"THAT CERTAINLY is.
"A FINE fit."
AND SHE felt of it.
AND HASTILY exclaimed:
"OH, NO, indeed.
"IT'S REALLY too wide."
AND MR. West excused himself.
STARTED UP the ladder again.
AND GOT another pair.
AND THE lady.

TRIED THEM on.

AND KIND of frowned and said:
"OH, THESE are too short."
AND Mr. West.
HAD TO do some more climbing.
AND MADE four more trips.
AND EACH time.
THE LADY found some fault.
WITH THE shoes.
AND THEY were either too long.
OR TOO high in the instep.
OR THE shape was wrong.
OR THE heel wasn't pretty.
AND AT last.
SHE TURNED around.
AND SAID to Mr. West:
"LET ME try on again.
"THE PAIR.
"YOU SHOWED me first."
AND MR. West did.
AND THE lady said.
"I BELIEVE they'll do fine."
AND HAD him wrap them up.
AND WENT on out.
AND SINCE then.
I CAN very well appreciate.
WHY THERE are some folks.
WHO ARE opposed.

A supply of government fish arrived yesterday to be added to the City Lake. Bill Coffman states that they were expecting something like two or three thousand fish in this shipment but owing to the fact that some gasoline was mixed with the water at some station up the line killing off most of them, they were unable to be supplied with more than one hundred and fifty or two hundred fish. J. M. Douglas was an interesting character on the streets today. Mr. Douglas was in an auto wreck near Llano, Tex., two years ago in which his neck was broken and his spine twisted out of shape. The car fell on top of him. For three weeks after the accident he was in a hospital at San Antonio, Tex., in an unconscious condition. He was paralyzed for seven months and even now suffers with paralytic strokes. He wears a framework on his head to hold his head up from his body in order that his blood may circulate. He is an interesting character and talks freely of his physical condition. At night he sleeps most of the time with pillows packed around the frame in order to keep the blood flowing freely. If this were not done he would become dizzy and lose consciousness. He must carry his arms folded as they bear too heavily against his shoulders when permitted to hang limp by his side. He is 52 years old and yet with all his physical defects he seems no more nervous than the rest of us.

THERE IS A WORLD OF INTEREST IN READING ADVERTISEMENTS

Your daily newspaper is far brighter and more interesting for the advertisements it contains. You get information from them. You learn all about many little things that are of so much personal importance in your life. They keep you posted. They tell you what is new and desirable.

Sometimes they keep you from making an unwise purchase by pointing out just the reasons why one article suits your needs better than another.

Reading advertisements helps you to economize. You know that economy is not alone a matter of saving money but of spending money to advantage. Advertising identifies goods of unquestioned value.

When a store or manufacturer puts a name on goods and tells you about them you may be sure they are worth while because it does not pay to advertise merchandise that is not good.

Make a practice of reading advertisements. Read them as news from the business world published for your benefit. They will help you to live better and dress better and make more of your income in every way.

June 26, 1919.

Mr. Marvin Brown,
Editor Daily and Weekly News,
Ada, Oklahoma.

Dear Mr. Brown:

I want to congratulate you heartily on the real, live, up-to-the-minute newspaper you are giving us. It certainly would do credit to a city much larger than ours and is a paper which can be shown with pride as the newspaper of an "A Double A" city. I count it a booster paper in helping to build a city really worth while. Undoubtedly, it will get results.

Personally, I greatly appreciate the excellent editorial column. The utterances are timely, practical and thought-provoking. The moral sentiments are very fine and will certainly help in making our city as great morally and religiously as it is commercially. We are proud of our "A Double A" newspaper.

That the News may continue to flourish, prosper always, increase in circulation with an ever widening circle of influence, and be a joy to its editor as it will undoubtedly be a blessing in our fair city is the wish of a friend.

Yours truly,

GEORGE W. BECK.

S. O. S.

FRIENDS AND PATRONS:

The statements I have made show you that some of my troubles result from the demand of ice delivery in such small quantities, that the price we get does not pay for the service—you want your ice delivered by noon, which means that we must have enough delivery outfits to cover the entire city in the forenoon, thus doubling the quantity that would be needed if the deliveries were distributed throughout the day, and doubling the cost of service.

The Government Food Administration, after investigating these matters, recommended the elimination of number of wasteful methods in order to avoid the necessity of increasing the price of ice, especially to working people and small consumers. These recommendations will work to your benefit, and among them are these:

That ice be distributed upon coupons to all customers as nearly as possible.

That a large part of the small sales be made from local ice boxes, or at the wagon instead of attempting delivery into houses.

These rules enable them to maintain service, and give good values, and benefits the customer, and are based upon years of experience of the people in the industry.

Also, special deliveries to residences which cost always more than the amount realized from the sale are entirely discontinued except in case of sickness.

This is the help we ask of you now: namely, BUY COUPONS, and for minimum quantities of 25 pounds—as much more as you can afford.

No Great Riches, But Food In Plenty From Yard Poultry

How a Suburban Resident Built a Hen Shelter That Was an Ornament, Also; Rabbits Maintained, Converting Waste Into Food at Small Outlay.

Too many poultry stories read like fairy tales in which Aladdin is often represented as rubbing his magical lamp and converting poultry poverty into flock prosperity. Unlike such warping of the truth, this is the story of an actual experience of a backyard poultryman who was not able to buy an automobile from his flock profits, but who did furnish fresh, nutritious food and abundance of it for his family table, in addition to enjoying his work.

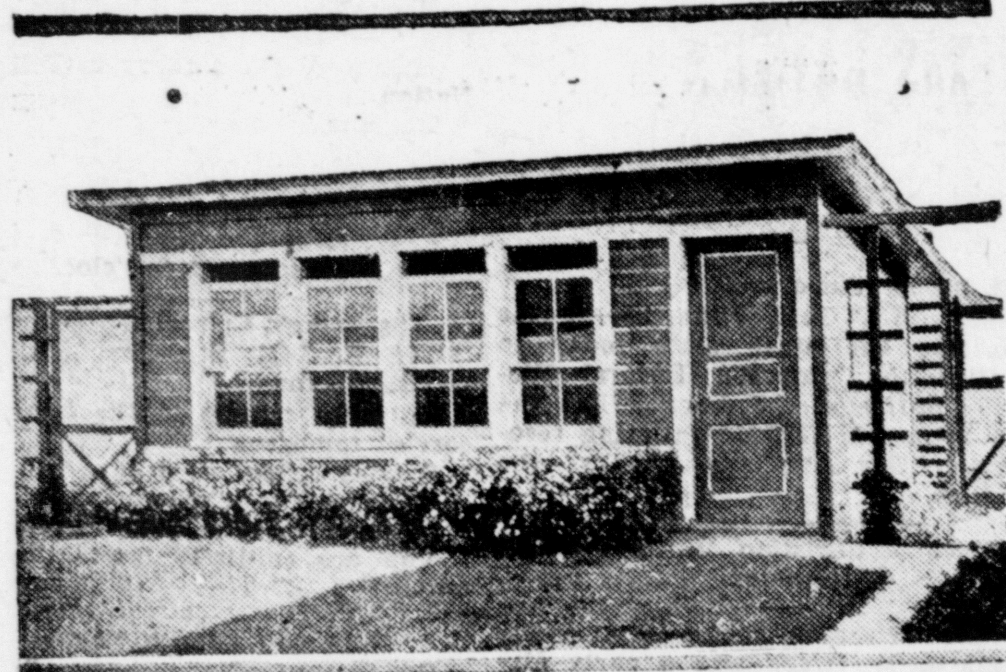

The attractive and serviceable poultry house designed and constructed by this suburbanite cost less than $100 when it was completed in 1914. It has a concrete floor, roosts, trap nests, a water system, and other hen house accessories. It is a pleasure to look at this hen house, which would be really ornamental to the backyard of any thrifty American.

The building is 12 by 18 feet, and is divided into three pens with an aisle at one end. The house is 7½ feet high from the floor to the with four rabbit hutches designed according to the directions of the United States Department of Agriculture. In the main he raised Belgian hares only during the fall, winter and early spring up to the time of the setting season, when the space occupied by the rabbits was needed by the hens. Then he would reduce his rabbitry to the minimum point. In this way the rabbit quarters provided plenty of space, by the use of partitions, for six or more setting hens at a time. After the hatching season the owner would place the broody hens in the same pen with several rabbits, as the presence and hopping about of the rabbits would ultimately break the hens of their broodiness.

Rabbits Cost Little to Keep.

The remarkable thing about these rabbit-raising operations was that valuable food was produced from weeds and waste, as practically the only feed for the rabbits was grass clippings, wild hay and weeds. During the young bearing season he would feed the does a little skim front eaves and 6 feet at the back. Yellow pine drop siding for sheathing and roofing purposes, the latter being overlaid with prepared, stone-surface, asphalt roofing. Adjoining the house, with direct access to it, are four pens, one of which is used for small chickens, being enclosed with one-inch mesh chicken wire.

Plenty of Light From Windows.

The windows are an attractive feature of this house. They cost complete $1.50 apiece, those at the side being bungalow windows of large and odd size which the dealer was glad to get rid of. The front windows can be opened both at the top and bottom for ventilation. The side windows, which help to provide free circulation of air, are practically weather-proof, as they are hinged at the bottom and swing inward. The material for the floor of this house cost $12. The owner laying the concrete floor during the evenings by aid of an oil lantern.

To begin with, this poultryman had only 15 hens, while his capacity was 60 mature hens and pullets. A novel feature of his poultry operations was the maintenance of a number of Belgian hares which he raised for meat. One pen in the chicken house was equipped milk and a small amount of oats, but never more than a quart of oats a week. In the course of two years he raised and ate about 75 rabbits, weighing an average of two pounds apiece. All this meat was produced as a by-product of his poultry operations with small expense or trouble.

Another desirable point about the rabbits was that they required little care as compared with poultry. The rabbits were fed at any time of the day or night with satisfactory results. "It is a comparatively simple matter to kill and dress two rabbits in ten minutes," remarked the suburbanite, "but I never was able to pick and dress a single chicken in less than double that period. My family did not tire of the rabbits, because, as a rule, we alternated the rabbit flesh with chicken and other fresh meats. The profits which I realized from my poultry and rabbit operations came entirely from Belgian hares, as my White Plymouth Rocks only about paid expenses, since I had to purchase practically all my feed for them. However, it is a great convenience for a suburbanite to have on hand two sources of fresh meat in addition to a plentiful supply of fresh eggs."

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today. NC-13 sentation and may well be called a bonanza of laughter, with a hearty giggle in every foot of film.

Matilda, whose role is interpreted by Constance Talmadge, is the young wife of Richard Landers (Norman Kerry); he and his partner, Paul Boudeaux (Harrison Ford) are in financial straits, with their credit exhausted. Paul's Uncle Baptiste announces that he is coming on to visit his nephew; if he finds him married, he will settle $50,000 on him for perpetuating the family name.

Paul refuses to take the obvious remedy, for he is a confirmed woman-hater, and things look dark indeed; but when the uncle arrives, Matilda tells him she is Paul's wife. The old provincial is delighted—too much so, in fact—for after he gives Paul the promised donation, he decides to prolong his stay from a few hours to a month. It becomes necessary to continue the deception of course, and Matilda's ingenuity is taxed to the limit, but she gets through the trying time successfully.

In the closing reel, Uncle Baptiste finds a helpmate, and even Paul is paired off with a charming nurse, while Matilda makes full confession as she returns to the arms of her "lawful wedded husband." And the uncle is so wrapped up in his new found happiness that he forgives all the young folks and joy reigns over all.

Neighbors

This is more than a place where you can get your battery charged.

It is more than a store where you can buy a new battery.

As we look at it we are neighbors of yours, and we want you to feel the same way about it. A good way to get acquainted is to drive around and have us test your battery with a hydrometer. If you like, we'll show you how to do it, and tell you the few simple rules that ought to be followed to keep the charge up to 1.285, where it belongs.

If yours is a new car with a Willard Battery, be sure to drive in right away so that we can register the battery and give you the benefit of Willard 90-day battery insurance.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

THE CAT'S MISTAKE.

"Me-ow, me-ow," said Blackie, the black cat, as he came down the walk. "Me-ow, me-ow," he said again. "I do believe I will look for adventures. I do believe I will see what I can see. I do believe I will have some fun and explore. By exploring I mean to go around and see some new place." So Blackie started off. Now Blackie didn't know much about days. He thought all days were about the same. He knew that each day he was fed at about the same time. He knew that when he cried he got something extra to eat or drink.

So Blackie Started Off.

He knew where he could chase mice, he knew where he could lie in the warm sunshine, and he knew that if it was raining there wasn't any sunshine at all.

He also knew that on the cold days it was delightful back of the kitchen stove, and that on the hot days it was very nice under a shady tree in the garden.

But he didn't know that Saturday was a holiday and that Sunday everyone went to church, except cats and dogs and very young children. Very young children went sometimes but cats and dogs never went.

He didn't care about doing anything on this particular day but exploring. And it was very early in the morning when the family were all asleep.

He walked around and he ran around and he looked in all directions. "I think I will go this way," he said.

So he walked on and when he came to a church he was hot and tired. "It looks cool in there," he said; "yes, it looks nice and cool me-ow, I think I will go inside."

So he wandered up the church aisle and he saw a nice place where he thought he would go to sleep. And where do you think, or rather, what do you think was the place Blackie chose for his nap?

As I don't think you will be able to guess right away and as I want to tell you what really happened, I will tell you the place Blackie chose for his nap.

It was in the organ. Well, he had a fine sleep. And he was still asleep when the organist came in and began to play.

Then, poor Blackie woke up with a start! At first he didn't know whether he was having a nightmare or a bad dream, or what was happening.

He moved to one side and the organ gave a curious rumble and a very funny sound and the organist looked as if he didn't know what the trouble could be, and the people stopped singing and then tried to go on singing without any music.

The organist tried to play again and this awfully queer rumble and burr and buzz was heard once more. So the people went on finishing their singing without any organ.

Of course Blackie tried to move when he felt the pedals moving and he jumped over the inside stops and pedals and made these very strange sounds as he did so.

The organist looked inside the organ and saw nothing. Then, suddenly, he saw two big green eyes staring at him.

"It's a cat in there," he said to himself.

Poor Blackie was very much frightened. This was altogether too much. He liked adventures and he liked to explore but this was going too far.

"Yes, that is a cat," said the organist to himself, and Blackie's green eyes shone back at him when he said this.

"Come, pussy; come, nice pussy," said the organist in a whisper. Poor Blackie was so frightened he did not know what to do. Still the organist kept on coaxing and begging Blackie to come out. And after awhile Blackie felt less frightened and the soft whisper of the organist sounded very kind and Blackie came out from the inside of the church organ.

Oh, how happy he was when he was out and the organist got a little boy to lift him quietly and take him out of the church.

And what joy it was for Blackie to be back home again, to rest and have a nice sleep after his adventure, which had turned out to be such a mistake!

Wrong Kind of Humility.

The girl who lets herself believe that all the best things are for other people, has the wrong kind of humility.

A Little Boy Took Him Out.

Oh, how happy he was when he was out and the organist got a little boy to lift him quietly and take him out of the church.

And what joy it was for Blackie to be back home again, to rest and have a nice sleep after his adventure, which had turned out to be such a mistake!

NEWS SERENADED BY LIBERTY MUSICIANS

Mr. Foster McSwain, manager of the local playhouses, brought Mr. Henry Roquemore and his interesting musicians to the News Friday afternoon to meet the News people and for more than thirty minutes the News force was entertained with a splendid musical program, which was happily enjoyed by everyone.

Happy Klark, as his name would naturally imply, is splendid with his supply of ever-ready fun.

Hiwaiian Bill, native of far-away Hiwaiian Islands, like his native people, possesses that rare, musical talent so charmingly persuasive, known as Hiwaiian melody—and plays the later day rag-time with the same interesting ease.

At this hour both gentlemen were performing on the guitar with the very best skill we have seen.

We enjoyed this little visit and trust Mr. Roquemore will visit Ada again soon.

PICTURE SHOW AT NORMAL ENJOYED

Those who attended the picture show at the Normal last night could not tell any difference as far as the picture was concerned between it and a regular commercial picture of a high class theater.

The first picture shown was "Martyrs of the Alamo," a historical picture of the Texas Republic. This was in five reels and they were thrillers from start to finish. Prof. Sears, the history teacher at the Normal, is a great advocate of teaching history by the screen route, and says three times as much can be learned where the eye can see as when only the ear can hear.

The student body at the Normal is interested in the pictures as attested by the fact that a great majority of all those attending the Normal were present at this initial performance.

Mr. Mooney of Dallas, representing the Community Motion Picture Concern, was present last night to get the machine in proper operation.

The Alamo picture was followed by a comedy called "Mutt and Jeff in the Tanks." This was a scene of the great fun makers in the trenches of Germany and the capers they cut were such to keep the house in an uproar of laughter.

The next picture will be shown next week, and one each week will follow during the summer term. The one next week will be given earlier in the week as the holidays come Friday and Saturday.

TEXAS RATIFIES WOMAN SUFFRAGE

By the Associated Press
AUSTIN, Tex., June 28.—Texas became the ninth state today to ratify the proposed Federal Woman Suffrage amendment when the State Senate adopted ratifying resolution previously passed by the House.

Babies of Christian S. S. Entered.

One of the delightful social occasions of the week was a party given for the Cradle Roll department of the Christian Sunday school. Supt. Mrs. C. V. Dunn and Assistant Supt. Mrs. Stewart, have this department in fine working condition.

Thursday afternoon, the babies were invited to bring their mothers and come to the home of Mrs. Dunn. The guests were greeted by Mesdames Dunn and Stewart and ushered into a nursery filled with a delightful assortment of toys and playthings.

Mrs. Penrose kept the Edison playing appropriate selections.

Miss Francis Walters and Miss Cora Taylor assisted in entertaining the little folks and also helped in the serving of dainty refreshments, including animal cookies and lemon wafers for the babies.

Mrs. Marvin Brown charmed the audience with a donkey story. Mrs. M. L. Perkins read Longfellow's "Children's Hour" and told a bear story.

Rev. Dunn took kodak pictures of the bunch and Mr. Stall took a large picture of the babies. It was an occasion long to be remembered.

Stonewall News: The arrival of soldier boys during the past week has been numerous, most of the boys coming over with the large consignment arriving in Oklahoma last week. Among those who have returned are: Hez Anderson, Loris Barberousse, Harrison Gill, Monti Coffey, Pete Anderson, Luke Weems, Sam Foster, Clarence Beaty, Tom Gault, Durad Thomas and Oliver Sallee. The boys are all glad to get back home. Three others have landed in the United States but have not yet reached Stonewall. They are L. C. Kenyon, Early Crabtree and Alva Odum. Alva is in the hospital and it is not known when he will be released. The other two are expected to arrive in Stonewall most any day.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

During the last week of August Ada is to entertain the old Confederate Soldiers, their sons, daughters, and friends in a three days convention. This being a state convention, it will be one of the most important ever held in Ada, and it is up to Ada to make good.

Four committees and the chairman of each have been appointed from the Chamber of Commerce and the Auxiliary thereto as follows:

Reception Committee—C. V. Gowling, and Mrs. J. P. McKinley, assisted by board members as sub-chairmen.

Decoration—T. B. Blake, Jr., and Miss Reba Shelton.

Entertainment—W. J. Coffman, and Mrs. W. C. Duncan.

Finance—J. W. Davis and Mrs. R. F. King.

These various committees will at once begin making their plans and start to work to "put it over" in good style, and it will be to the interest of every individual in Ada to see that the plans are carried out.

The first thing to do is to clean up! What better thing can be said of a city than that "it is such a clean place." Truly cleanliness is next to godliness, and the cleaning up job means that every one must assist in the work. Now is the time to slay the weeds and grass and evacuate the alley of the rubbish and the mosquitoes are flourishing.

The mayor will order all trash hauled away by August 1st—so have your trash barrel ready. At no time in the city's history has Ada looked more beautiful than she does this summer. The city is dressed in the most gorgeous, riotous colors. Roses, sweet peas, beautiful snapdragons, lovely vines, and every kind of flowers seem to be crying aloud their assistance in dressing up Ada, and we must help them all we can. It only remains for Ada to be dressed in her most festive robes for the visit of the Confederate soldiers to make the favorable impression she should.

The board of the auxiliary has especially requested that every home be made a reception hall for one or more of these visitors—taking care first of the soldiers and then the delegates.

Now is the time to begin—to make ready to receive these guests—for the three days convention, August 26, 27, 28. They will have plenty of time to view Ada completely from every angle, and let the wholesome, clean atmosphere make all of these visiting friends of ours say that indeed Ada is a good place to come and a good place to live.
